Join us for Centre Gives in June

The Centre County Community Foundation is planning a special 36-hour online event called Centre Gives. From 6 a.m. on June 27 to 6 p.m. on June 28, donors will be able to browse the profiles of dozens of local nonprofits, including the Spring Creek Chapter of Trout Unlimited, that support Centre County, and donate to the organizations of their choosing. Those donations will be matched with $100,000 from the Community Foundation! Events such as this have been held across the country and have resulted in many thousands, even millions of dollars being raised to improve their communities! Please participate and go to CentreGives.org on June 27 & 28 to donate!

Upcoming Programs

The program for June 7 features a presentation by Tracey Stroup, titled: "Fly fishing conditioning, injury prevention and rehabilitation".

Tracey regularly writes a column on these topics for Mid-Atlantic Fly Fishing Guide magazine and offers classes and personal consultations for those needing more individualized information. Tracey's presentation will cover common injuries associated with fly fishing, how to prevent or rehabilitate them, and how to adapt your fly fishing game while recovering from an injury. She will also provide a packet of simple stretches to enhance casting and wading capabilities. Tracey is owner of Trained by Tracey, Inc., specializing in home personal training, wellness consulting, trigger point therapy, fly fishing conditioning, injury prevention and recovery. Tracey and husband Eric are also principals in Stroup Fly Fishing, Spruce Creek, PA. To

ORDER OF THE SULPHUR...

SCCTU President Judi Sittler presents ClearWater Conservancy Conservation Biologist Katie Ombalski with the Order of the Sulphur Award for 2012. The award is given periodically to members who have given exceptional service to the chapter and the Spring Creek watershed. Congratulations, Katie.

SCCTU to take part in Spring Creek Festival

Our chapter will once again have a presence at ClearWater Conservancy's Spring Creek Festival June 2 at Millbrook Marsh in State College. The event runs from 10 a.m to 2 p.m.

We will demonstrate fly tying, fly casting, and aquatic insect identification to adults and children.

If you would like to help represent our chapter at this event, email Judi Sittler at jsittler@comcast.net

In addition, Dan Shields will receive the George Harvey Spring Creek Heritage Award. This award is given annually at the Spring

Creek Festival to an individual who has made a lasting contribution to the health and conservation of Spring Creek. This is the first year we are dedicating the award in George Harvey's name. The award will given at approximately 12:45 p.m. We encourage all chapter members to attend and honor Dan, who, like the past recipients of this award, has done much to preserve our home water.

Donations needed for Trout Camp!

The SCCTU/CRPR Trout Camp for Youth held annually and supported by our chapter is in need of some new equipment. Tying vices, tools and hip boots are wearing out after a decade of hard use by the kids. Consumables such as leaders, hooks and all manner of tying supplies are always in demand. We are calling on members to either donate any serviceable equipment they may have and not need, or, even better, make a tax-deductible donation to our chapter and we can purchase the equipment. To make a financial donation, visit the chapters web site at www.springcreektu.org and click on Donate to the Spring Creek Chapter at the bottom of the navigation bar. To donate equipment or materials, bring your items to an upcoming membership meeting or contact Chris Hennessey at c.hennessey@comcast.net and we will make arrangements to pick items up from you.

Watch out for ticks this spring

Because of the mild winter and early spring, some experts are saying 2012 will be a bad year for ticks and reports from outdoorsy folks in the State College area are giving teeth to the theory. After spending time outdoors a thorough tick check is the best way to prevent tick bites that can transmit Lyme and other diseases. For tips on tick bite prevention and what to do if you are bitten, visit Centers For Disease Control and Prevention's website at www.cdc.gov/ticks.
